

Offshore Fuelling Systems Engineer

Full-time, Permanent

Based at Cairnrobin, Portlethen

Overview of Role:

To carry out offshore Heli fuel system inspections, repairs, maintenance, testing and issue certification to client offshore installations in accordance with current legislation.

Key Responsibilities:

- To mobilise to pre-arranged offshore installations as per the requirements of the scheduling team to carry out Quarterly and annual helifuel system inspections, service, maintenance, survey, helideck friction testing, helideck auditing, helideck crew training, system commissioning and certification as required
- Have up to date knowledge of all relevant legislation requirements in force at the time of any given inspection as directed by Technical Manager
- To be fully autonomous and self-supporting to ensure you have all relevant PPE, tools, consumables, reports & information prior to mobilising to each asset
- Ensure you are at the allocated check-in point in plenty of time for your departure with all required ID's
- Complete all necessary training and permits whilst adhering to client/ installation specific rules and regulations
- Prepare and complete Offshore Report & Certification for submission to company client in a timely fashion
- To ensure all timesheets and client specific documentation is correctly signed prior to departing the installation
- To submit in a timely fashion your signed timesheets and any expenses
- Conduct yourself in a polite and professional manner at all times when on a company client's offshore installation, onshore premises or training facility
- Attend organised training and competency-based assessments as and when required
- Protect and promote the name and reputation of the company and seek opportunities to build the company's customer base
- Adhere to all local laws when travelling and/ or driving on company business

Skills & Experience:

- Experience with COMAH and SEPA regulations preferred although not essential.
- Personal communication skills and ability to interact with all levels of the organisation
- Attention to detail
- Strong knowledge of MS-Office (word, excel, powerpoint)
- Administrative/ document control
- Ability to work on your own and to specified timescales and project plans

Qualifications:

- Experience from the oil and gas industry, preferable but not essential
- Current BOSIET & MIST desirable

Apply with a current CV, availability, salary and benefits expectations to hr@oegoffshore.com